in this book the author observes that prose writing more than poetry drama or other genres came to signify a historic rift that resulted in loss and disenchantment the author treats prose as a signifying practice that is a practice that creates meaning during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries prose emerges in competition with other existing practices specifically the practice of performance using zionist literature as a test case the author examines the ways in which zionist authors put prose to use both as a concept and as a literary mode writing prose enables these authors to grapple with historical political and spatial transformations and to understand the interrelatedness of all of these changes postsocialist china is marked by paradoxes economic boom political conservatism cultural complexity haomin gong s dynamic study of these paradoxes or unevenness provides a unique and seminal approach to contemporary china reading unevenness as a problem and an opportunity simultaneously gong investigates how this dialectical social situation shapes cultural production he begins his investigation of uneven modernity in china by constructing a critical framework of unevenness among different theoretical schools and expounding on how dialectical thinking points to a metaphysical paradox in capitalism and modernity the inevitable tension between a constant pursuit of infinite fullness and a break of fullness unevenness as the means of this pursuit in the chinese context this paradox is created in the uneven developmentalism that most manifestly characterizes the postsocialist period gong goes on to investigate manifestations of the dialectics of unevenness in specific cultural events four case studies address respectively but not exclusively literature the prose of yu qiuyu popular fiction chi li s neorealist fiction commercial cinema the movies of feng xiaogang and art house cinema wang xiaoshuai s filmmaking representing different aspects of cultural production in postsocialist china these writers and directors deal with the same social condition of uneven development and their works clearly exhibit the problematics of this age uneven modernity makes a significant contribution to the burgeoning field of china studies as well as the study of uneven development in general it addresses some of the most popular yet understudied cultural phenomena in contemporary china specialists and students will find its insights admirable and its style accessible books about thinkers require a kind of unity that their thought may not possess this cautionary statement is especially applicable to mikhaïl bakhtin whose intellectual development displays a diversity of insights that cannot be easily integrated or accurately described in terms of a single overriding concern indeed in a career spanning some sixty years he experienced both dramatic and gradual changes in his thinking returned to abandoned insights that he then developed in unexpected ways and worked through new ideas only loosely related to his earlier concerns small wonder then that bakhtin should have speculated on the relations among received notions of biography unity innovation and the creative process unity with respect not only to individuals but also to art culture and the world generally is usually understood as conformity to an underlying structure or an overarching scheme bakhtin believed that this idea of unity contradicts the possibility of true creativity for if everything conforms to a preexisting pattern then genuine development is reduced to mere discovery to a mere uncovering of something that in a strong sense is already there and yet bakhtin accepted that some concept of unity was essential without it the world ceases to make sense and creativity again disappears this time replaced by the purely aleatory there would again be no possibility of anything meaningfully new the grim truth of these two extremes was expressed well by borges an inescapable labyrinth could consist of an infinite number of turns or of no turns at all bakhtin attempted to rethink the concept of unity in order to allow for the possibility of genuine creativity the goal in his words was a nonmonologic unity in which real change or surprisingness is an essential component of the creative process as it happens such change was characteristic of bakhtin s own thought which seems to have developed by continually diverging from his initial intentions although it would not necessarily follow that the development of bakhtin s thought corresponded to his ideas about unity and creativity we believe that in this case his ideas on nonmonologic unity are useful in understanding his own thought as well as that of other thinkers whose careers are comparably varied and productive
